GHAZIABAD

CRADLE FOR THE GAURS GROUP A GLIMPSE INTO ITS HISTORY

Situated in the fertile plains of Hindon, a tributary of the river Yamuna, Ghaziabad traces its history back to Harappan civilisation. The place has been a witness to the evolution of human civilization and multiple conquests in Indian history.

The origin of present day Ghaziabad traces back to Ghaziuddin Nagar which was named after Ghaziuddin Feroze Jung, an important general in Mughal Emperor - Aurangzeb's Army.

After India was granted independence by the British, Ghaziabad was a tehsil of Meerut, a city in Uttar Pradesh. In 1976, then Chief Minister Mr. ND Tiwari declared it as a district.

*All the information mentioned above has been taken from newspaper reports, websites and various news portals.

GHAZIABAD AN INDUSTRIAL CENTRE- THE PROGRESS REPORT

Ghaziabad was always one of the important industrial centres of Uttar Pradesh, included in the city regions of Delhi (NCR-National Capital Region) and sharing its borders with Noida & Faridabad.

Steel was the first industry to contribute to the economic progress of the city. Apart from Steel, the production units include Cloth, Transport, Instrumentation, Farm Merchandise, Tobacco Production, Ceramics, Pottery, Industrial Machinery, Equipment, Electrical & Electronic Products.

With the spillover effect of industrialisation in Noida & Greater Noida, Ghaziabad rose as a major residential location for IT/ ITEs in early years of 2000. Land Developers could buy land directly from the farmers and this factor played a huge role in its rapid progress. Commonwealth Games organized in 2010 also became an additional factor.

Soon the city became a major centre of residential and commercial activities.

*All the information mentioned above has been taken from newspaper reports, websites and various news portals.

PRESENT DAY GHAZIABAD CONTRIBUTING FACTORS A NEW ERA OF PROGRESS

Ghaziabad, one of India's most upcoming Smart Cities, is steadily emerging as the preferred destination for the upwardly mobile who want to enjoy all the perks of urban life without the associated pains. As the established urban centres and metropolitan cities like Delhi, Mumbai, Kolkata, Chennai are tremendously overcrowded and bursting at the seams, Ghaziabad, with its tremendous development in infrastructure, is emerging as a hot favourite.

Better connectivity through RRTS, Expressways, Metro and development of Hindon Airport have given a major thrust to the growth of Ghaziabad.

The Eastern Peripheral Expressway (EPE) or Kundli - Ghaziabad - Palwal Expressway

A 135 km long 6-lane wide expressway that starts from the Western Peripheral Expressway at Kundli, Sonapat, passes through Baghpat, Ghaziabad and Noida districts in UP and Faridabad district in Haryana.

Metro Connectivity

The first operational metro route - Red line was extended to cater ever growing demand of Ghaziabad. Today, Ghaziabad has following 7 red line metro stations. Shaheed Nagar, Raj Bagh, Major Mohit Sharma, Shyam Park, Mohan Nagar, Arthala and Hindon River.

*All the information mentioned above has been taken from newspaper reports, websites and various news portals.

HINDON AIRPORT- A NEW CHAPTER OF PROGRESS

An Indian Airforce base meant to protect Delhi from enemy air strikes, Apart from the military base, Hindon Airport is also developed as a domestic base by Airport Authority of India (AAI) under the regional connectivity scheme, "Ude Desh ka Aam Nagrik". This step is being taken to reduce the load from IGI - Indira Gandhi at International Airport, Delhi.

Hindon Air Force Station at Ghaziabad, Uttar Pradesh opened up its doors for civil flights which are operated by the Airports Authority of India.

As on today flights for Pitthoraghar, Kalmurji and Hubli are operational from Hindon airport.

It is close to industrial areas in Ghaziabad. It's proximity to educational institutions, hotels, malls and multiplexes offer better connectivity to all.

With another International Airport NIA-Noida International Airport at Jewar, this will be connected to the world's aviation network too. The air connectivity will prove to be a major thrust for the economic development of the region.

Apart from these projects, Ghaziabad is setting a good example as far as other facilities are concerned like Proper Garbage Disposal, Increase in Green Cover, Maintenance of Highways and Roads etc which have expedited the rate of progress.
